Hey all,

Reminder about meeting tomorrow at 2pm.

Also, this is what everyone should have done by tomorrow:

James: Cancel bookings function, basis path test flow graphs(see the ones I've done)

Amanda: User manual (as much as you could have done without a working example to use) and details of support we'll be offering the cinema

Scott: Web interface with enough functionality and hard coded data to be testable.

What I've done: you might have seen dropbox going crazy all weekend. I've been working on the code, repository, version control, built an audit template, built some testing documents and various other things.

Here's what we have left to do:

- TESTING
- Audits
- Testing
- We need to email the other group with the changes for approval
- More testing
- Build the back end of the web interface from the current code
- Probably more testing

So tomorrow, let's get testing knocked on the head, should be fine if we break it up, do some audits.. shouldn't take too much time, and we should meet on Wednesday and cram the back end into the web interface.

Last week, let's get this knocked on the head, yeah?

Cheers,
Dave
